

Science Assignment

a) About 98% of the known compounds contain one particular element. In fact this element can form so many compounds, that they are studied under a separate branch of chemistry. Find out the name of the element and the branch of chemistry under which the element and its compounds are studied. The name of this branch of chemistry is linked to the living world. Find out the importance of these compound to the living world .

Note down your finding in a file.

b) Write the tables of Chapter 3, Structure of Matter (table 3.2 ,3.3 ,3.4 ,3.5 ,3.6 ,3.7 ,3.8 and 3.9) in the file and learn them.